

TABLE 764

JOSEF FRANK had a penchant for small tables that were easy to place and move around in the interior. Mixing different material to create an exciting tension in the design was also common for Josef Frank's designs. Side Table 764 has a kolmård marble top and a base of solid lacquered brass. Josef Frank designed the side table in the second half of the 1930s.

MATERIAL Kolmård marble with a base in solid lacquered brass.

CARE INSTRUCTIONS When cleaning stone surfaces such as marble, use a soft cloth dampened with water and green soap. Dry with a soft cloth.

Remember that acids such as red wine and lemon can stain the stone. This applies to both polished and matt marble. If acid is spilled, be sure to wipe the surface directly.

The legs of the table are lacquered and should never be polished. Avoid contact with water as it can stain.
