

MIRROR 2492

MIRROR "2492", ALSO CALLED THE "Laurel Leaf Mirror", was designed by Estrid Ericson in 1941 – at the time in a number of different sizes and finishes.

As early as towards the end of the 1920s, laurel leaf depictions were employed as foliate crowns on mirrors. This decorative pewter laurel crown is hand-cast at the Humstorp metal workshop, where 12 different sections are joined together to create an integrated circle. The chill moulds used in the manufacturing process are the same as those used in Estrid Ericson's days.

MATERIAL Pewter, glass and plywood.

CARE INSTRUCTIONS Pewter is a soft material that requires careful treatment. We recommend using cotton gloves when handling pewter. Objects that are not being used can be stored in a plastic or felt bag to avoid scratching.

It is generally recommended to avoid using polish on pewter, since it can cause scratches. To remove fingerprints and other stains, rinse the pewter in warm water with a small amount of dish detergent. Dry with a soft cloth. For more advanced cleaning of pewter objects we recommend a professional restorer, for example, KA Johnsson in Stockholm.
